RPW Motorcycle Accessories Introduces New Helen Twowheels Reflective Super Packing Straps

Indianapolis, IN, February 25, 2010- RPW Motorcycle Accessories introduces the popular Helen Twowheels (H2W) Super Packing Straps in a reflective material.

The new H2W Reflective Packing Straps utilize the same material that has added visibility to the Helen Twowheels Super Packing System for over a decade. The black heavy weight nylon strapping has a silver reflective stripe down the center that is highly visible and reflective and is used as part of the mounting system on the H2W bags.

For the Reflective Super Packing Straps, the two standard 5' straps with loops on the end have been replaced with the black reflective material. Two 6" black pieces with d-rings on one end complete the four-piece set. Each piece in the four-piece strap system wraps securely around a pillion handle, luggage rack or frame trellis and feeds back through the loop on the end. The two long 5' reflective straps then wrap around soft luggage and feed through the two d-rings on the shorter black straps. On the H2W bags, the long straps will feed through the slots on the reflective strapping on the bags. The H2W Super Pack Straps are universal and can be used to mount any type of soft motorcycle luggage.

The nylon material does not contain elastic and will not wear, fray or stretch over time or while riding. The d-rings are made from plastic hardware to protect both rider and bike and allow for a secure mount that will not loosen or break.
